

Interacting with a First Responder

A first responder is a person who helps people stay safe.

They might be police, fire rescue workers, or emergency medical technicians (EMTs). Usually, first responders wear uniforms to help us identify them.

I might see them in my neighborhood.

Interacting with a First Responder

Sometimes, a first responder might come to my house or school.

I might know some first responders, or they might be strangers.

I don't need to be afraid of first responders even though they are strangers.

Interacting with a First Responder

It is OK to talk to first responders because they are there to help me.

When they ask me to do something, I will try to follow their directions.

I can stay safe if I listen to the first responders.

800.328.8476 | AutismSociety.org

Symbols included are SymbolStix® Copyright © 2022 SymbolStix, LLC. All rights reserved. Used with Permission

This project was supported by grant No. 15PBJA-22-GK-03582-MAPX awarded by the Bureau of Justice Assistance. The Bureau of Justice Assistance is a component of the Department of Justice's Office of Justice Programs, which also includes the Bureau of Justice Statistics, the National Institute of Justice, the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, the Office for Victims of Crime, and the SMART Office. Points of view or opinions in this document are those of the author and do not necessarily represent the official position or policies of the U.S. Department of Justice.