

Waiting for an Invitation to Go in the Water

There are many types of water outside. Water can be a swimming pool, an ocean, a pond, or a lake.

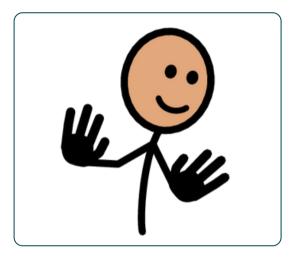

I like to play in the water outside.

But water can be dangerous if I go in by myself.

Waiting for an Invitation to Go in the Water

I need to wait for an invitation (or be told I can go in) from an adult before I go in the water.

I can sit on my towel, a chair, or a mat on dry land and wait for an invitation (or to be told I can go in).

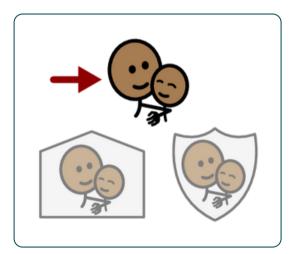

When I am invited (or told I can go in), I will be able to splash, swim, and play in the water.

Waiting for an Invitation to Go in the Water

When I wait for an invitation (or until I am told), I will be safe in the water.

They will be happy that I waited and was safe.
